the silver standard in favour of some such expedient as that, which has been adopted, in India. A proposal of that kind would naturally be warmly welcomed by the salaried classes, the shopkeepers, and all whose incomes are dependent upon fixed charges, but the merchants would for the most part oppose it to the utmost, for they see a profit in cheap silver. As affecting the industries of the Colony the change would be fatal: there would be no inducement to start new industries, and those already established, such as sugar refining and ropemaking, would suffer in the same way that the Indian yarn trade has suffered.

A removal of the Pata Yot judgment, which we reproduce in another column, leads to the conclusion that the conviction was a just but that the penalty imposed is excessive. The Court finds extenuating circumstances and says that the motive which he had in view makes an appreciable difference between him and the ordinary assassin who takes away the life of a fellow creature with a view to gratify his personal hatred or vengeance. Pata Yot's motive was one of mistaken patronage, given effect to by discreditable means. The treachery of which he was guilty called for severe punishment, but not punishment of the kind meted out to a common felon. Deprivation of official rank and simple confinement for a term of years would have sufficiently met the case. Some commutation of the sentence may perhaps even yet be hoped for. Leaving aside the personal aspect of the case as affecting Pata Yot, however, the action of France in insisting upon a new trial before a Mixed Court after the first trial had proved unsatisfactory might with advantage be taken as an example of how the authors of anti-foreign outrages in China should be dealt with. If the notorious Cioe Han, for instance, and a few more of the same kind were brought before a Mixed Court the machinations of anti-foreign agitators would soon cease.

The trial of the French shall be begun at 10.15 a.m. yesterday.

The Danish steamer Ast, which went ashore at Dale Bay on Sunday last, steamed into the harbour yesterday morning apparently no worse for her misfortune.

The steamer Actus, Storm, master, which arrived here yesterday from Foochow, reported having sighted the Ledra, a full-rigged ship, 100 feet long, 30 feet wide, and several of her yards, but no signal for assistance was observable on her. The Actus could not make out her name or nationality.

Nine Chinese steamers in Market Street, Singapore, were destroyed by fire on the 18th inst., and two warehouses and the Chinese School were damaged. Nearly all the houses were insured. The rate of the houses were insured, and the Hongkong Fire Insurance Co. Ltd. had a risk of £30,000 on the sum of the houses.

Meiss, S. W. & Co., in their report dated Manchester, May 26th, thus refer to the metal market:—The holidays have interfered with business, especially in this district, but after making full allowance for this, the demand for our products is as good as ever, and we are getting a good market. The price of lead is disappointing. Prices of lead are still high, and it is believed that one other vessel of like nature will be ordered by Messrs. Armstrongs.

We understand that a considerable portion of the sum £10,000 tons which has been given by the Japanese Government to the Chinese Ironworks at Blackwall, probably comes, says the London and China Express, as a welcome surprise to the Chinese. That the company ever since Mr. R. H. Bell, president for so long a time, has had no difficulty in getting the amount required.

M. HAPKINS'S VACCINE.

CALCUTTA, 6th June.
Dr. Simpson, Health Officer of Calcutta, has addressed a letter to the Municipality regarding M. Hapkins's system of inoculation for cholera. The Health Officer has attended the trial of the system in Calcutta, where over 1,300 persons were vaccinated, is sufficiently encouraging to justify the Municipality in giving the discovery an extended trial. The incipient, he points out, were made in several parts of the town, and there were several instances of cholera being apparently arrested. It is claimed, too, that 200 persons, of whom 116 had been vaccinated, ten cases of cholera occurred, seven of which proved fatal, and they were all among the minority who had not been inoculated.

of the Indian Association will be called to decide what policy to adopt, or that, if the contingent duties are not re-imposed, additional taxation must be levied before the close of the current financial year. The bill necessary to adopt the latter measure, however, would not be drafted till the Calcutta session.
